Baby's Own

So small within its mother's arms,
So small and dimpled and fair.
How beautiful, its little head
With soft and silken hair.

Cheeks that were touched with an angel's kiss,
Lips so rosy red,
So wonderful it seems to us
As it sleeps in its little bed.

With eyes of blue, the deepest blue
That heaven's rainbow had.
They look with love and trust and faith
At their proud Mom and Dad.

And when the twilight softly falls
And the whole world's asleep,
The angels come and take their place
Their precious charge to keep.

Dear Mother:

CONGRATULATIONS!

We know that it will be up to you to keep the records of your baby, as mothers usually do; and we are happy to play a small part in bringing this baby book to you.

You will be the one to guide your baby along the right paths of life and we know that your baby will develop into a fine citizen, thus bringing happiness and joy so that this world will be a little better by this particular baby having lived in it.

With best wishes, we are

Sincerely,

Jim Miller

Dear New Parents:

Right now we know you are proud of that new addition, and so are we.

We believe there is no greater privilege than parenthood; and in this belief, we would like to extend to you and to the baby a most hearty welcome.

It is with great pleasure that we extend our congratulations and hope that you have many years of health and happiness.

Sincerely,

Mike August

Dear Parents:

This Baby Book is presented to you by the business concerns whose letters appear within. They sincerely hope that you enjoy using the book during the coming years as much as they enjoy sending it to you today.

Post Cards are enclosed and your comments to the business concerns would be greatly appreciated by them, as this is the only way they have of knowing that you received this book.

Your thanks will inspire the merchants to continue this good-will gesture to future new mothers of this city.
